Join us at the WSH Symposium on Cranes 2021

The worldwide outbreak of COVID-19 has reshaped the way we live and work. With the pandemic unlikely to abate, it is imperative that we continue to keep workers safe and healthy.

The WSH Symposium on Cranes 2021, which will be held on 14 October, is an annual event organised by the Workplace Safety and Health (WSH) Council to raise WSH standards and professionalism in the crane and lifting community.

Gain insight into the impact of COVID-19 on safe lifting operations, the ongoing efforts and technology adopted within the crane and lifting community to maintain WSH. Get tips on how to manage mental wellness for crane operators and apply essential coping skills to ensure a safer outcome for lifting operations.

Join the Bedok Safety Group Webinar 2021 on workplace safety and health

As we adapt to the new norm of working at home, we have to learn to manage work expectations together with family needs. The annual Bedok Safety Group webinar will touch on how we can better achieve mental well-being, with experts sharing on the following:

- How to manage difficult conditions and thrive when leaving is not an option.
- Achieve workplace safety skills training through humanising technology.
- How to spot mental health issues and adopt preventive measures.

Date and Time:

12 October 2021 (Tuesday), 9am – 12:30pm

13 October 2021 (Wednesday), 9:20am – 1:30pm

Venue: Zoom

7 SDUs (pending approval) will be awarded to attendees.

Join the Community Watch Scheme to keep workplaces safe

Volunteer with the Community Watch Scheme (CWS) to receive timely alerts and advisories as well as access to relevant events and training. Sign up for Workers On Watch, one of the five broad categories of CWS, that encourages greater awareness and vigilance around workplaces. By participating in Workers On Watch, you will receive the latest information on crime around your workplace. Together, we can keep our workplace safe.

Developed by the Singapore Police Force in close collaboration with the National Crime Prevention Council, the CWS aims to build an informed and vigilant community. Members of the public who sign up for the CWS will be updated on the latest crime information through alerts and advisories. This will help increase the general level of vigilance in the community and encourage active citizenry.
