

Mr Adrian Lim
Group Managing Director, Disk Precision Group of Companies

Mr Adrian Lim is Group Managing Director of Disk Precision, a precision engineering company with multiple manufacturing sites in South-East Asia. The company manufactures precision metal components for clients in various industrial sectors, including Oil & Gas, automotive and consumer electronics. Disk Precision's manufacturing lines adopt CNC machining technology guided by TQM philosophies.

Mr Lim serves as a council member of the Singapore National Employers Federation and board member of e2i, NTUC. He is on the judging panel of the 2023 Tripartite Alliance Award organized by the Tripartite Alliance for Fair and Progressive Employment Practices (TAFEP). He also serves in various other government boards, councils and grassroots organisations. Mr Lim is appointed Justice of the Peace and is active volunteering with the Singapore Prisons Service in that capacity.

Mr Lim graduated with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from the National University of Singapore and Master of Science degree from the University of Manchester Institute of Science and Technology. He received the Public Service Medal and Public Service Star in recognition of his volunteer work.

Quote: "A safe and healthy work environment is essential for businesses to get the best out of their most important resource – the workforce. It must be recognized that productivity is maximized when every employee feels comfortable, valued and respected. Effort should always made for open communications, because the workers are the best source of ideas on how the work environment can be made better."

In Disk Precision, workplace safety is a key thrust in our operating procedures, especially at the manufacturing shopfloor."
